

Category Specific Questions / Site Wide Optional Fields

This software offers a variety of ways to customize the content and nature of your site. One of these ways is to provide extra questions for sellers to fill out when placing their listings. These extra questions can be designated as either category specific or they can be implemented on a site wide basis. However, depending on which needs you have for a specific question, your options will vary, and one of those options is how and where each question can be displayed on your site. Therefore, the intent of this section is to break down the differences between Category Questions and Optional Site Wide Fields, and discuss how each might be implemented.
